Our Chancellor

Professor Anne-Marie Imafidon MBE HonFREng HonFBSA HonFIET, an inspirational trailblazer in business, maths and technology.

One of the UK's most influential women in tech and a leading advocate of diversifying talent in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM), Professor Anne-Marie Imafidon MBE was appointed Chancellor of Glasgow Caledonian University in 2024.

Professor Imafidon is a trailblazer in the fields of business, mathematics and technology, and has received a host of accolades including an MBE in 2017 for her services to young women and the STEM fields. She was named the UK IT Industry and British Computer Society's Young IT Professional of the Year in 2013, and, in 2020, the UK's Most Influential Woman in Tech by Computer Weekly, the same year she was appointed a NATO2030 Young Leader. In 2021 she began a run as temporary Arithmetician for 60 episodes of Channel 4's Countdown, the world's longest-running game show.

As co-founder of the award-winning organisation Stemettes, Professor Imafidon has spearheaded initiatives to inspire the next generation of girls and young women in STEM careers, reaching more than 73,000 young people across the UK and Europe. Professor Imafidon helps to lead Women in Tech, a UK Government taskforce designed to ensure women "enter, stay in and lead" the country's technology sector, and she chairs the Institute for the Future of Work, an independent research and development body exploring how new technologies are transforming our working lives.

A sought-after presenter, keynote speaker and adviser, she continues to make significant contributions to the advancement of women in technology, and, in 2022, wrote She's in CTRL, Transworld, a guide to women's empowerment through digital literacy.

Professor Imafidon is both Chancellor and an Honorary Professor of the University, though her remarkable learning journey also includes passing GCSEs at the age of 10, becoming the youngest girl to pass A-level computing at 11, and earning a Master's degree in Mathematics and Computer Science from the University of Oxford aged just 20. Professor Imafidon embodies our University Values: confidence, creativity, integrity and responsibility.

Graduation ceremony

The celebration is a blend of old and new traditions.

Your graduation ceremony is a blend of centuries of academic history woven with the University's own traditions.

The ceremony draws together our community to mark the award of degrees or other achievements and celebrate your success with pride as you reach a milestone in your journey with us. It begins with the academic anthem, Gaudeamus Igitur (Let Us Rejoice), and graduands (students about to have their degrees conferred) and their guests stand as the academic procession enters. The procession usually includes our Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor, Vice-Principals, senior staff, members of the University Court and Senate, distinguished honorary graduands and the Bedellus.

The Bedellus carries the Caledonian Mace - the symbol of our independence and authority to confer degrees. Ceremonial maces' roots can be traced to the Middle Ages when they would be used as weapons to protect the monarch and, subsequently, university leaders. Our richly decorated ceremonial Mace celebrates our motto, For the Common Weal, and was designed by The Glasgow School of Art and gifted by the universities of Glasgow and Strathclyde. The Mace was the first to be produced in Scotland for a Scottish university in more than 100 years.

Degrees are conferred, or awarded, by our Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor (our Principal and executive head of the University), or by our Chair of Court – our supreme governing body.

Our students are presented by the Dean, the most senior academic of each of our Schools, and are then capped – signifying that your degree has been awarded and you are now a graduate. The award given to each graduating student is based on the level of their study and their course.

Alongside our own students, we also award honorary degrees to public figures who embody our Values in recognition of their outstanding achievements in their sphere. The ceremony usually closes with an address from the Principal and Vice-Chancellor.

Graduation Robes

The origins of today's academic dress – including the robe and hood worn by our students – can be traced back to medieval Europe's earliest universities when students adopted long, sober clothing to reflect their scholarly status.

While every-day fashions have changed, the often flamboyantly coloured robes have remained an integral part of academic ceremonies – undoubtedly adding to the sense of occasion at graduation.

The introduction, in 2010, of the various richly hued graduation robes and hoods that are associated with each of our degrees was a landmark in our history and illustrates our pride in our past and present, and in our ambitions for the future.

The coloured hoods associated with each degree replaced the uniform academic dress that had remained unchanged since we were awarded university status in 1993 and celebrate the diversity of achievement of our 21st-century graduates who come from all over the world.

Members of our academic procession wear the academic dress associated with the university from which they graduated, creating the vibrant variety of colours you'll see at today's ceremony.

Below: The ceremony brings our community together to celebrate your success.

Jan Hulme MBE MA
University Secretary and Vice-Principal Governance

As Lord Provost of Glasgow, the Right Honourable Dr Jacqueline McLaren is at the heart of civic life in the city. Glasgow's First Citizen and its Lord Lieutenant, Jacqueline's leadership reflects the city's values of community, opportunity and public service.

Jacqueline was elected Lord Provost in 2022. She joined the council in 2017, when she was elected to represent Canal, her home ward, as a Scottish National Party councillor.

Her interest in local politics began in 2015, when she first heard about cuts planned to school bus services. The proposals would have affected some of the city's most vulnerable families, limiting children's access to education and the opportunities it offers. She began a grassroots campaign, collecting thousands of signatures and urging parents to bang pots and pans outside the City Chambers, calling for the reinstatement of the services.

Following the campaign's success, members of the community encouraged Jacqueline to stand for election.

She has continued to champion community empowerment and the social and physical regeneration of her ward and the wider city, as well as the rights of women and girls by leading a Carter Initiative – Inform Women, Transform Lives Campaign. In 2021, she was named the Local Government Information Unit's Community Champion of the Year.

In 2023, Jacqueline presented a tartan shield to Glasgow Caledonian in recognition of our contribution to the economy and reputation of Glasgow as a city of learning and innovation.

Award of Honorary Degree of Doctor of the University

Billy Watson

will be presented by Professor Anita Simmers DBO MPH PhD FRSB FRSA
Dean, School of Health and Life Sciences

Billy Watson is Chief Executive of Scottish Action for Mental Health (SAMH), Scotland's biggest mental health charity.

Billy has led SAMH since 2008, helping transform the century-old charity into a flagship provider of accessible, practical and compassionate support services that is shaping national policy and tearing down stigmas around mental health. He is leading the organisation's most ambitious initiative with the opening of a series of walk-in mental health hubs, The Nook, across Scotland.

A champion of good mental health as a cornerstone of wellbeing, educational attainment, employability, community resilience and social inclusion, Billy has decades of experience in health service leadership and management. Before joining SAMH, he was Scottish Director and UK Group Director of the Royal National Institute of Blind People and worked for the NHS. He is a former Trustee and Chair of Heart of Midlothian FC's Big Hearts charity and, in 2024, was appointed a Non-Executive Director of the Scottish Prison Service.

Billy has generously supported the partnership between SAMH and the University for 15 years, promoting positive mental health and wellbeing among our students, staff and wider community.

Our work together includes training programmes and services and collaborative research projects. Our Department of Psychology is academic partner for SAMH's Psychological Wellbeing Strategy, developing joint research, knowledge exchange and service-delivery projects including the Time for You service run by SAMH and supported by GCU students. We're also collaborating on improving access to mental health support through digital technologies and community hubs.
