EDUCATIONAL AIMS OF PROGRAMME
BA (Hons) International Fashion Branding (IFB) is a specialist programme combining academic, strategic and creative practical skills learning, resulting in a pedagogy based in the application of theory to practice. It has strong industry connections with international brands and works with them to deliver 'live' project assessment briefs that prompt students to emulate real world practice and offer the opportunity to learn directly from industry professionals. The programme consists of a balance of fashion-focused and core business modules providing students with discipline-specific knowledge in areas such as product and brand development, brand management, creative communication and fashion buying and visual merchandising, as well as general business knowledge related to finance, human resource management, economics and social science. The curriculum is aligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals and students are encouraged to deliver positive impact on the environmental and societal challenges presented by current fashion industry practices. In line with its title, the programme has a strong international focus reflecting the global nature of the fashion industry with its global supply chains. Teaching is approached from a global perspective using global examples and working with global brands where possible on live projects. Students are encouraged to adopt a global mindset being afforded the option to study languages at SCQF Levels 8-10 and actively supported to take up study abroad and summer school opportunities at international partner institutions.

This distinctive programme develops students' traditional and digital skills including teamwork, leadership, visual and verbal presentation, range planning, product design, digital design, data analysis and research skills among others.

The broad educational aims of the programme are follows:

- To stimulate an enquiring, analytic and creative approach to life-long learning and to encourage independent judgement, critical self-awareness and reflection.
- To provide a progressively rigorous contemporary, challenging and relevant approach to the study of international fashion branding and the skills to be independent and self-motivated with the necessary entrepreneurial spirit and transferable skills to succeed in a wide range of international fashion branding related employment situations.
- To develop understanding of the impact of national and international environmental contexts on the performance and management of organisations, and, of the impact of business on society at a local and global level in line with the UN Sustainable Development Goals.
- To develop the skills required to evaluate, plan and implement research relevant to business management/programme context.
- To develop communication, teamworking, presentation and information gathering skills that enhance graduate employability.
- To provide students with the opportunity to broaden their international perspectives and inter-cultural knowledge through the study of a foreign language and studying in a partner intuition abroad.
- To provide students with the opportunity to seek membership of a professional body as a student member or after graduation.

Curriculum Map

The curriculum map links the modules listed in the Programme Structure to the Learning Outcomes

This map provides both a design aid to help academic staff identify where the programme outcomes are being developed and assessed within the course. It also provides a checklist for quality assurance purposes and could be used in approval, accreditation and external examining processes. This also helps students monitor their own learning, and their personal and professional development as the course progresses.
